

BIG LEBOW

Unexpected meetings on the street are always the best. And Big Lebow brings that outdoor spontaneity inside. This powerful arch lamp will brighten up your day, wherever you are in the house.

Here's the story

It doesn't matter where you put it – by your dining table, couch, above a meeting table, wherever – Big Lebow will bend over forwards like a quirky streetlamp, flooding every place with ambiance. This arch lamp was designed with Dutch design duo Kranen/Gille, who collaborated with Fatboy before on Bakkes, the all-in-one side table and planter.

Big on atmosphere

With Big Lebow, Fatboy is taking indoor lighting to the next level – 2.34 meters high, to be exact. While the arch of most standing lamps is secondary to the shade, Big Lebow's arch makes a powerful statement. The arch, like its heavy foot, is made of powder-coated steel. Soft light, generated by its matte white LED lights, is reflected by adjustable aluminum caps. They seem to float, giving the impression that the caps are rising along the arch. Beautiful, but functional too.

Tone it down

Big Lebow has been designed to brighten up your life, for many years. It's sleek, strong and thought out, in every detail. The switch, for example, looks like a quiz button. Press it to turn the light on or off; turn it to make it dimmer. Big Lebow will bow down to you in anthracite, banana yellow or light grey. And if you want to make even more impact link two Big Lebows together and create an arch that's 3.5 meters wide!

Designing with Kranen/Gille

Jos Kranen en Johannes Gille are constantly looking for the next design classic. Like Fatboy, they love developing archetypical, powerful designs rooted in the heart of a product. In addition to being kindred spirits with Fatboy, they are also neighbors. Their studio in 's-Hertogenbosch (NL) is just a stone's throw from Fatboy's headquarters. Kranen and Gille: "A chance meeting outside, under a streetlamp, is doubly satisfying. It's spontaneous and not contrived and we wanted to bring that same sensation inside. The way we see it, Big Lebow is typical Kranen/Gille - and typical Fatboy."
