

LED'S STRIP

The versatile Led's Strip wall-mounted lamp by Fatboy lives up to its name. With its transparent appearance, it literally exposes itself. The Led's Strip has a transparent cover which encases a LED strip along with a transparent wall connector, both made of high-quality plastic. The lamp was designed by Chris Kabel in collaboration with Fatboy and its unconventional design fits seamlessly with Fatboy's style. "The design emerged from the idea of making the instant need for light accessible anywhere in your home," says Chris Kabel. Led's Strip is surprising, timeless and functional.

On the spot

Mounting the Led's Strip is a piece of cake. The transparent wall connector comes with double-sided tape, which makes it easy to stick to your wall. Once you've mounted the wall-connector, it's really secure. Would you prefer not to use the mounting tape? Then you can also attach it to the wall using the two screws included. Once it's mounted, you just click the transparent cover into place on the wall connector, plug the supplied adapter and cord into the socket and voila! Your lamp is ready to strip..., er, that is to say shine! Thanks to its long cord, matching the color as the outside of the LED strip and the border, you can hang this wall lamp anywhere. Due to the minimal use of materials and the fact that nothing is glued together in the design, all parts of the LED Strip can be recycled.

Atmosphere maker

"You turn on the Led's Strip by touching the colored strip in the centre of the shade once. By touching it a second, third, time you can set the brightness, until it goes out after a fourth touch. The light from the Led's Strip shines inwards, towards the wall. In combination with the warm color of the LED light, this wall lamp is a real atmosphere maker. How or where do you want that extra atmosphere? That's up to you. As a night light next to your bed, as an eye-catcher in your living room or as a warm welcome in the hall. Vertical, horizontal or diagonal. It single-handedly steals the show. But you can also add a statement to your interior with several Led's Strips together. Extra nice: thanks to its transparent design, the Led's Strip feels at home anywhere and fits perfectly with any color wall or wallpaper pattern. By touching it a second, third, time you can set the brightness.
